Volume XXX, No. 4

June 1960

ALL HALE HAILS WINNERS

Evelyn Oxford receiving Homemaker Award pin from adviser, Mrs. Rachael Trimble.

EVERLYN OXFORD GETS HIGHEST SCORE IN BETTY CROCKER HOMEMAKER CONTEST

The 1960 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow in our school is senior Evelyn Oxford. She received the highest score in a 50-minute written examination on homemaking knowledge and attitudes taken by graduating senior girls. Evelyn will receive an award pin representing the slogan, "Home is where the heart is." Her examination paper will be submitted for competition with other high school winners to name the New York State Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow.

CRUZ AND TEDESCO WIN ACHIEVEMENT AWARDS

Some students of Sarah J. Hale have won honors. Being accepted to the Fashion Institute of Technology is in itself considered a scholarship. Laura Holmes is the lucky girl. Rosaura Cruz, as well as being accepted to New York City Community College, has been awarded a $200 Generoso Pope Memorial Scholarship offered by the Columbus Citizens Committee. Diana Tedesco and Rosaura Cruz have been awarded the Mayor's Scholastic Achievement Award, which is based on their scholastic record in school.

AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHS SNAP PRIZE PICTURE FOR LIBRARY CONTEST

The team of Phyllis Crisci, Rose Dilorra and Barbara Avents combined their talents to produce a prize winning photograph for the borough-wide Brooklyn Public Library's photography contest. The prize winning print was created by utilizing Phyllis' esthetic eye behind the camera, Rose's idea, and Barbara's photographic face.

Mr. Arnold Holtzman was technical adviser to the amateur photographers.

RACE INTO SPACE SPARKS SCHOLARSHIP

The missile race is said to have set off the spark to further the education of American youth. Sarah J. Hale, like most schools throughout the country, is offering every opportunity for its students to go on to higher education. Many girls have taken advantage of these opportunities, and have made plans to go to college. Some of these girls are Patricia Los, Barbara Wernersbach, Mary Thomas, Patricia Coscio, Diana Tedesco, Barbara Guice, Martharine Grant, and Sydelle Fiber.

Sydelle Fiber receiving gold medal hairstyling award from her teacher, Mrs. Frances Gimplowitz.

SYDELLE FIBER WINS FIRST PRIZE IN HAIR STYLING FOR S. J. HALE

It was a big day for Sarah Hale when senior Sydelle Fiber took first prize, a gold medal, in the Metropolitan Hair Styling Contest. Fifteen schools competed in the contest, held this year at Mabel Dean Bacon Vocational High School in Manhattan.

Sydelle was awarded the first prize for her beautiful hairstyle on classmate Barbara Tumminia. The styles were judged on originality, suitability, and execution of design. Sydelle's was judged tops on all three points.

Sydelle gives full credit for her accomplishment to her beauty culture teacher, Mrs. Frances Gimplowitz, for her inspiration and patience in training her for this contest.

SPRING DANCE A JOYFUL FROLIC

Despite the fact that it was Friday the thirteenth (May) everybody had a good time at the Spring Dance.

Frankie Leas and his four man combo supplied the cha-cha's, rock'n'roll and foxtrots. Mr. Morton Epstein and Mrs. Anne McCarthy, who arranged the dance, were happy with the fine turnout of students and teachers.

OUR FAIR LADIES

We've grown accustomed to her face,

She almost makes the day begin.

We've grown accustomed to the tune

She whistles night and noon.

Her smiles, her frowns, her ups, her downs,

Are second nature to us now.

With a slight difference, you may remember these lines from "My Fair Lady" in which Henry Higgins suddenly realizes his fondness for Eliza Doolittle, the girl he has transformed from a shrill flower-seller into a paragon of the social graces.

In a way, we too at Hale will miss our departing seniors. We've grown accustomed to their ways: their talk, their walk, their smiles (and frowns). Yes, we'll miss our seniors and we wish them well in whatever occupation they may find themselves in the future

Good luck to you, class of '60 from all of us at Hale. We'll miss you, but we know you're eager to give the world a whirl.

AFTER GRADUATION, WHAT?

"Are you really a top designer at Jon's?" asked Marion of a former classmate she had not seen since graduation five years ago.

"Yes, I am," replied the old classmate, "and I earn $200.00 a week. After graduation, I continued my education in the fashion field by attending school at night while working days."

"How wonderful," said Marion, but inwardly she wasn't very happy. She had been content to drift along in her job and wait for the "big chance" but, of course, it never came. You have to make your own "big chance" she now knew.

Yes, education after graduation can provide a better job, higher pay, and a brighter future. Besides this, courses taken at adult education centers, at little or no cost, can lead to a happier and fuller use of one's leisure time.

GIRLS OF THE MONTH

Ellen Ingrid Lynne

Ellen Dowd, a crisp freshman from Holy Family Elementary School, came to Sarah Hale with the ambition to become a private secretary. After doing very well in all her exploratory trade classes, Ellen will follow her heart's desire by taking the D.E. course next year. In her first year at Hale, Ellen has achieved an average above 90% and is already aiming for the Junior Honor Society.

In her spare time, Ellen enjoys reading and sewing when she is not taking care of her pets - Minnie, a cat; Blackie, its son; Poochie a dog; and Susie, a bird.

by Camille Burks

For a girl who has been in this country only six months, Ingrid Schlinkschroeder has made remarkable progress in understanding and speaking English. Ingrid came from West Germany and didn't know a word of English. Despite this handicap, Ingrid did so well, both in her trade, D.E., and her academic classes, that her teachers thought she should be specially commended as a girl of the month.

Ingrid is no stranger to American music and movies, though. She says our music and movies can be heard and seen daily in West Germany. Many of the youngsters there are rock'n'roll fans and enjoy seeing our latest movies.

by Norma Velez

Lively Lynne Larsen came from the Sarah Hale Annex with a remarkable record and is keeping it up here at the main building, too. Lynne, a fashion arts sophomore, has an 89.2% average and was recently installed in the Junior Honor Society. She has participated in several school assembly presentations and is a member of the G. O. Council.

SENIOR EXHIBITS UNUSUAL PROJECT AT ANNUAL SCIENCE FAIR

"The Germ-Free Beauty Shop", an original research project by senior Doreen Fouassis, was exhibited at the annual Science Fair held at Brooklyn Technical High School.

Doreen's experiment showed the relative effectiveness of various methods of sterilization used in a beauty shop. She spent over twenty hours preparing this unusual but practical experiment.

Mr. Goldman, of the Science Department, guided Doreen in this work.

Other students participating in the Science Fair were Lucille Petrovato, June Wheat, Marie Ramos and Frances Corujo who exhibited a test for sugar. Ellen Dowd, Marie Licare and Gabriele Karmoschek exhibited a project concerning the center of gravity.

"Our school was represented by three very interesting exhibits which helped make the Science Fair a real success. The girls deserve much consideration and gratitude for the extra time they devoted to their projects," said Mr. Roy Glick, Chairman of the Science Department.

The group exhibiting the project on the center of gravity has received an Honorable Mention award in the General Science classification for senior and vocational high schools.

BEAUTY CULTURE TEACHER ONE OF MANY IN FAMILY IN TRADE

"With practically all of my family and relatives in some phase of the beauty culture industry, I suppose it was just natural that one of us would become a teacher of the trade," said Mr. Anthony Abbene, Hale's latest addition to the Beauty Culture Department. Mr. Abbene began teaching over nine years ago at Metropolitan Vocational High School. Before that he owned a shop of his own.

Mr. Abbene has been teaching here since the start of the school year last September. Since then, he has made many friends among the faculty and students.

During the summer vacation, Mr. Abbene and his wife retire to their summer house on Long Island where he relaxes, does some gardening, goes boating and fishing, and gets to be a heavy eater. On Mr. Abbene, heavy eating doesn't show at all - lucky man!

SPRING CAREER CONFERENCE HELPS FRESHMEN DECIDE ON TRADES

To aid freshmen in their choice of trade next year, a Spring Career Conference was held April 12 in the auditorium. The advantages and requirements of each of the six trades taught at Hale were set forth by members of each department. Mrs. Logan, freshman adviser, directed the conference.

Mrs. Logan congratulated the officers of the Freshman Class 1959-60 for their fine work and service this year. They are: Marie Brown, 22P, President; Providencia Comacho, 21P, Vice President; and Joan Watson, 22A, Secretary.

HONOR SOCIETY INSTALLS NINETEEN IN BEAUTIFUL CEREMONY

Nineteen new members, twelve from the main building and seven from the annex, were installed in the Honor Society at installation ceremony on Friday, May 13.

The ritual is always an inspiring and deeply moving one. This year's was no exception. The solemn, stately march down the aisles, the lighting of the candles, the presentation of the charms, and the beautiful singing of the Choral Club - all were stirring.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Mrs. Grace Nugent of Teachers College, Columbia University. Mrs. Nugent's theme was mental health. She said that we should all know ourselves, accept ourselves and be ourselves. In this way, she said, we would not seek foolish or harmful means of enjoyment, but we would be happy from within, in our souls.

Mrs. Bengert, Honor Society adviser, arranged this beautiful assembly. The names of the new Honor Society members are as follows:

Main Building - Patricia Clark, Rosaura Cruz, Constance DiMeglio, Jennie DiSibio, Betty Evans, Winifred Lansky, Helen Kovaluskie, Ramona Marangelli, Irma Ortiz, Mary Ann Purcell, Grace Sciplini, Lucy Vaccarino.

Annex - Roseann Ferranti, Geraldine Fonte, Laura Gabriel, Ann Mastrianni, Alberta Mayer, Dolores Tortorelli, Donna Tortorelli.

Officers of the Honor Society are:

Virginia Molinaro - President, Vincenza Natale - Vice President, Mary Thomas - Secretary, Dorcen Fouassis - Treasurer.

DECA CONTESTANTS TO RECEIVE PLAQUE FROM N. Y. DAILY MIRROR

June 3, 1960 marks a special day for D. E. seniors who are taking part in this year's DECA contest at City College of New York.

A plaque will be given to Sarah J. Hale by the New York Daily Mirror for this year's winners. This year our girls hope to equal or better the enviable record made last year by our school.

Miss Drew's Corner

Rosaura Cruz and Vincenza Natale lighting symbolic candles representing Scholarship, Character and Service.

June 1960

Dear Girls:

One of our most beautiful and truly inspiring Assembly Programs is the Installation Ceremony of our Honor Society Members. We are proud to be known as the CORNELIA CHAPTER of the National Honor Society. This means that our Honor Society is nationally recognized throughout the United States. Every member in every state wears the same pin or insignia. The National Honor Society is sponsored by the Secondary School Principal's Association.

The dramatic scene above is known as THE LIGHTING OF THE CANDLES which emphasizes valuable goals that all should strive to attain.

Each candle is a symbol.

The first candle represents CHARACTER. As one member lights this candle she tells us that CHARACTER is that which none but ourselves may make or mar.

With the lighting of the second candle we learn that SCHOLARSHIP is that for which we aim, that which helps build character and underlies all our service.

The third and last candle represents SERVICE. This is what we lovingly tender our home, our school and our country.

Each girl who witnesses this wonderful ceremony must really feel inspired with the desire to become an Honor Society member. Let this desire grow so strong that you are willing to work hard each day in order to achieve this distinction.

Very sincerely,

Mary L. Drew
Principal

SCRIBES TELL HOW NEW YORK CITY IS AN UNLIMITED CAMPUS

Every year the Chamber of Commerce of the City of New York, with the cooperation of the Board of Education, sponsors an essay competition. On March 22, in Room 127, thirteen girls sat bowed over sheets of paper, writing a personal essay. The topic for this essay was: New York City - An Unlimited Campus.

The quiet hour of writing was the culmination of two weeks' work. Discussion sessions were conducted, preliminary drafts were written and evaluated. Then came rewrites and corrections. The girls, whose essays were forwarded to the judges, worked hard and worked well. We believe that some of the prizes must come to Hale.

The following girls participated in the contest:

8th Term - Rosaura Cruz, Diana Tedesco, Barbara Wernersbach.

6th Term - Connie DiMeglio, Virginia Colon, Geraldine Ruiz.

4th Term - Helga Olivencia, Carolyn Stephen, Gloria Leong, Dorothy Kozar.

2nd Term - Ellen Dowd, Antonia Anselmo, Joan Watson.

The girls in the contest wish to thank Mr. Arnold Holtzman, contest coordinator, for his cooperation, help and patience.

"NEW LOOK" ADDS TO GOOD LOOKS OF SARAH HALE VOCATIONAL HIGH

Sarah J. Hale has joined the latest fashion trends in school looks. Workmen have been busy giving our school a "new look" this past year, installing a new public address system, adding fluorescent lighting to several new and old rooms, and applying fresh paint to much of the inside and outside of the building. A new automatic bell system and many new bulletin boards have also been installed.

The public address system, with a speaker in every room, will save wear, tear, and time as messages and announcements are sent directly to each room from a central control room near the administrative offices. Special radio programs may also be broadcast to each room directly from the control panel.

YOUTH CONFERENCE DISCUSSES GROWING PUERTO RICAN ROLE IN NEW YORK CITY POLITICS

In the next twenty years, the Puerto Rican population in New York City will increase to well over a million. How will this tremendous growth affect the city's political situation? This and similar questions were discussed at the Puerto Rican Youth Conference held at New York University on March 19, 1960.

Various discussion groups were formed at the Conference. I chose to join a group discussing the topic, "The Puerto Rican-New Yorker, His Conflicts, Achievements, and Status." Our group came to the conclusion that many of the fine old Spanish traditions will have to undergo a change if Puerto Ricans are to make their way in ever-changing New York.

Making such changes will not be easy, however. To help Puerto Ricans become better informed and more active citizens, the Puerto Rican Association for Community Affairs has encouraged more parents to join the P.T.A.'s in their children's schools, and to join influential political organizations. The Association co-sponsored the conference along with New York University.

by Rosaura Cruz

Some of the large trade rooms have been partitioned off, adding extra rooms to the school. Fluorescent lighting has been installed in these rooms. Miss Drew's, Mrs. Meyers' and the Secretaries' office, and the school store also have these new lights.

The bell system has been replaced by a "beep" system. A soothing radio signal sounds automatically every forty minutes for period changes.

When the finishing touches have been completed, the school will then be freshly painted, inside and out, and the school signs will be re-lettered and painted.

When you return to school in the fall, you may not recognize this glamorous new lady, Sarah J. Hale Vocational High.

MRS. WELLS' CLASSES VISIT STATUE OF LIBERTY

by Lynne Larsen

On April 27, 1960, we had an interesting field trip. Our teacher, Miss Wells, took us to the Statue of Liberty.

We started out from school and took the subway to Battery Park, where we stayed till 11:00 when Miss Liberty, a ferry boat, came to take us to Liberty Island. While at Battery Park, girls talked to the sailors on the Coast Guard boats about their work and duties.

We finally got to Liberty Island. The girls ate their lunch first before doing any hiking. Some took the elevator half way up the statue. The elevator only goes up to the 9th or 10th floor. After that you have to walk up the rest of the way. I went to the top. There are windows to look out from and you could see for miles around.

When we left, we took the same boat home. All in all, we had a wonderful time. This was my first trip to the Statue and I enjoyed it very much.

FASHION SHOW DISPLAYS SPRING AND SUMMER WEAR

Fashion Arts students displayed their term's work at the "Fashions for Spring and Summer, 1960" show on May 6th. The students modeled their garments before a highly appreciative assembly of parents, teachers and students.

Freshmen displayed pretty flower hats and pullover ponchos. Sophomores showed colorful cottons and aprons. Juniors modeled chic dresses. Seniors showed fine suits and ensembles. Martha Brown and Virginia Molinaro commented eloquently as the models glided gracefully about.

Enhancing the fine garments were the expert hair styling and make-up jobs contributed by the students of the Beauty Culture Department. The models looked as if they had just stepped out of the pages of the latest fashion magazines.

Hale's fashion shows are always eagerly awaited by everyone; they never fail to please and fascinate. What wonderful things will we be seeing next term?

MR. KESSLER TO TAKE OVER
FOREIGN TEACHING POST IN FALL

One of Hale's most popular teachers, Mr. Theodore Kessler, will be leaving us this coming September to take a teaching position in Iran.

Mr. Theodore Kessler

While in Iran, Mr. Kessler is going to teach English on the high school and university levels. He will also be supervising the teachers of English there for the school year, September 1960 to June 1961.

Mr. Kessler said, "I am going to Iran as much to learn about the people of that country as to teach. I feel that the American people know all too little about the life and culture of people living in the Middle East. The part of the world to which I am traveling suffers from crushing poverty, and we must help them to help themselves."

This summer he plans to go to the University of Michigan to learn the Persian language which is called Farsi by the people of Iran. Iran was formerly Persia.

Mr. Kessler is taking his wife with him. They plan to visit other countries such as India, the Soviet Union, and the countries of Southern Europe.

When Mr. Kessler returns, he should have many stories to tell the girls about his experiences in the Middle East.

Mr. Kessler is going to be missed by his fellow teachers and his students. We wish him and his wife a safe and happy trip.

A LYRICAL LETTER

Composed by Paulette Albarella

Darling Lorraine,

I am writing this Letter to An Angel to let you know that I Love You So. Why Do I Love You So? Don't Ask Me Why but Since I Don't Have You I'm a Lonely Boy. Please Don't Ask Me to Be Lonely, because you're a Part of Me and We Belong Together. At Twilight Time I find Tears on My Pillow and I spend Long, Lonely Nights, Alone. Please Say You Want Me because I Need Your Love Tonight.

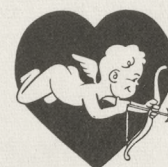

I would like to think of you as My Girl but it's Just a Dream. My Wish Came True when I met you At the Hop in your Chantilly Lace and you gave me A Casual Look and after we got acquainted Step By Step, I asked you to Come Dance With Me.

I've given you about Sixteen Reasons why I love you, you're My True Love and I'm Sticking With You. Just Ask Your Heart if you would like to be my Teen Angel, we'll walk Down the Aisle of Love together. Please Love Me Forever because I Only Want You.

Love Me,

Frankie

If you haven't guessed it already, Paulette composed this letter from song titles. They are underlined.

The fun began when four students were visited by an assortment of ghosts at the school library. These were not ordinary ghosts, however. These were distinguished ghosts from great stories and, as if tired of never being able to speak their own lines, they had themselves a ball at the expense of the poor students. Being respectable though, they soon returned to the printed pages from whence they came.

The play was further enhanced by the fine stage decorations contributed by Mr. Morton Epstein and the use of a new spotlight which added weird effects to the weird play.

A list of the cast members follows:
Dixie - Claire Salinaro, Gary - Carmela D'Ambrosio, Drue - Diana Tedesco, Gil - Doreen Fouassis, Headless Horseman - Catherine Graziano, Hamlet's Father - Marion Angeloni, Hamlet - Frances Corujo, Spirit - Auria Sierra, Fiddler - Martha Brown, Prompter - Marion Sagrestano, Sound Effects and Curtain - Lighting - Dorothy Campbell.

ANNEX CHATTER

ELECTION DAY AT THE ANNEX

Election Day took place at the Annex on May 16th. There were two slates of candidates, each representing the Green and Gold parties, respectively. After some exciting fanfare, the candidates were introduced to the Assembly by their campaign managers. Each of the candidates gave a short talk stating her qualifications for the office. Later, ballots were distributed and every girl had an opportunity to vote. In less than ten minutes the results were announced. The entire Gold party was swept into office.

Here are our new G.O. officers:

Ruth Santiago	-	President
Janet Salvatorello	-	Vice-President
Elizabeth Cuevas	-	Secretary

TRIP TO THE ART MUSEUM

On March 24 last our class visited an art museum with our teacher, Mrs. Bernstein. It was a most interesting trip. The museum itself was simply beautiful. We left about 11:30 A.M. and arrived there 1 P.M. just in time to see a film about Egypt. I liked everything about the museum. You'd be surprised how much you can learn about art. If you have never been to an art museum, you've missed a great deal. Try talking to your art teacher to arrange a trip of this type. It's educational, and fun, too.

by May Marotta

BEAUTY SHOW

A beauty culture show was the main attraction of our assembly program on May 9th. The production, supervised by Miss Bushensky and narrated by Janet Carta gave the audience some idea of the development of hair styles in our country.

Four major periods were represented. A brief political and social background of the era was followed by exhibitions of popular hair styles then in vogue. Popular songs of each era served to heighten the interest in the program.

by Thelma Youron

"HAVE FUN," SAY CONTINUATION GIRLS AND SHOW YOU HOW

Since summer is just around the corner, perhaps you are already planning ways to spend those glorious vacation days. And maybe, like many of the girls in Continuation School, you'll use some of the extra hours to follow a favorite hobby.

If you're artistically inclined, perhaps you'll be painting like Dolores Suarez, sewing like Arlene Rogers, or making ceramics like Diane Schreckenport. If you're a "collector", maybe you'll be looking for stamps like Connie Korsak, or for records like Joann Ruffalo, Sports enthusiasts like Bernadette Asher will be swimming or maybe even skin-diving like Margaret Wagner. Picturesque spots will be the target for photography fans like Erna Stimitz, or maybe you'll be on stage like aspiring actress Rose Sapanaro. Musicians might join accordion player Anna Schinkel or singer Anna Burgos, How about solving puzzles with Pat Mendicini or doing some reading like Mary Arata?

But if the busy schedules of these girls sound like too much to do, you can always follow Pat Corno's favorite hobby - resting! D.E. STUDENTS SEE WORLD'S PRODUCTS AT TRADE FAIR

by Anna Vargas

On Friday, May 13, some forty D.E. students left Sarah J. Hale at 12:00 noon for the New York Coliseum. Mr. Hollander and Mr. Erman were the students' chaperons to the U.S. World Trade Fair.

The 4th annual World Trade Fair took place from May 4 to May 14. Its purpose is to further commercial relations among nations.

France, Spain, England, Belgium, Israel, Germany, Italy, Japan, Turkey, the Belgium Congo and the Union of South Africa were among the nations that took part in the trade fair.

Such products as jewelry, furniture, art, pottery, apple cider foods, candy, veils and steel wire products were sold and exhibited.

Some of the D. E. students eagerly bought souvenirs. The girls found the trip very interesting as well as enjoyable.

Something to talk about

SENIOR NOTES

Gathered by Anna Pitti

One of our first graduates to be married will be Katherine Graziano to Mr. Joseph I. Canderozzi on August 20th. Kathy and Joseph plan a honeymoon vacation in the Poconos.

Marie Daniels is not only excited about our prom on June 8th, but she will also be competing in a hair styling contest on that day. Our sincere best wishes to her.

Annie Riveria, Victoria Perez and Miriam Rolon are planning a trip to Puerto Rico this summer. There they will meet friends and see the beautiful sights of our island commonwealth.

It has been officially announced that Mari-Ann Ervolino will be engaged by Christmas time. Another one of our beauties who became engaged during the Easter vacation is Sydelle Fiber.

Let's hope that Felicia Coppolino's boyfriend returns home from the Navy to make it in time for her prom.

Carol LaPlaca is thinking of taking a trip to Texas as a graduation gift from her parents.

Lucky Diana Tedesco! She will be attending three proms this June. Will she be wearing the same dress for all occasions?

Katherine Iacovino and Margaret Grasso are planning a trip to Miami Beach, Florida, in September. Let's hope all turns out well.

Estelle Forlano will be engaged in July to Mr. Ronald Varvario. Our best wishes to her and her boyfriend.

Things look good for Rose DiLora and Joseph Mangiovi. If all goes well they plan to be engaged by December of 1960.

Lots of luck to Rose DelVecchio and Richard Todisco. They have been going steady for four months. Quite a record for Rose!
